What October told us

1

Stories with a twist travel furthest

The highest median multiples went to story formats: historical figures in modern life, short AI films and family sketches. Pure visual loops like pet dances sat near 6x.

2

Three new formats took a fifth of the field

AI tool tutorials, pop-culture mashups and AI ASMR barely existed in our September data. In October they made up 20% of all outlier videos.

3

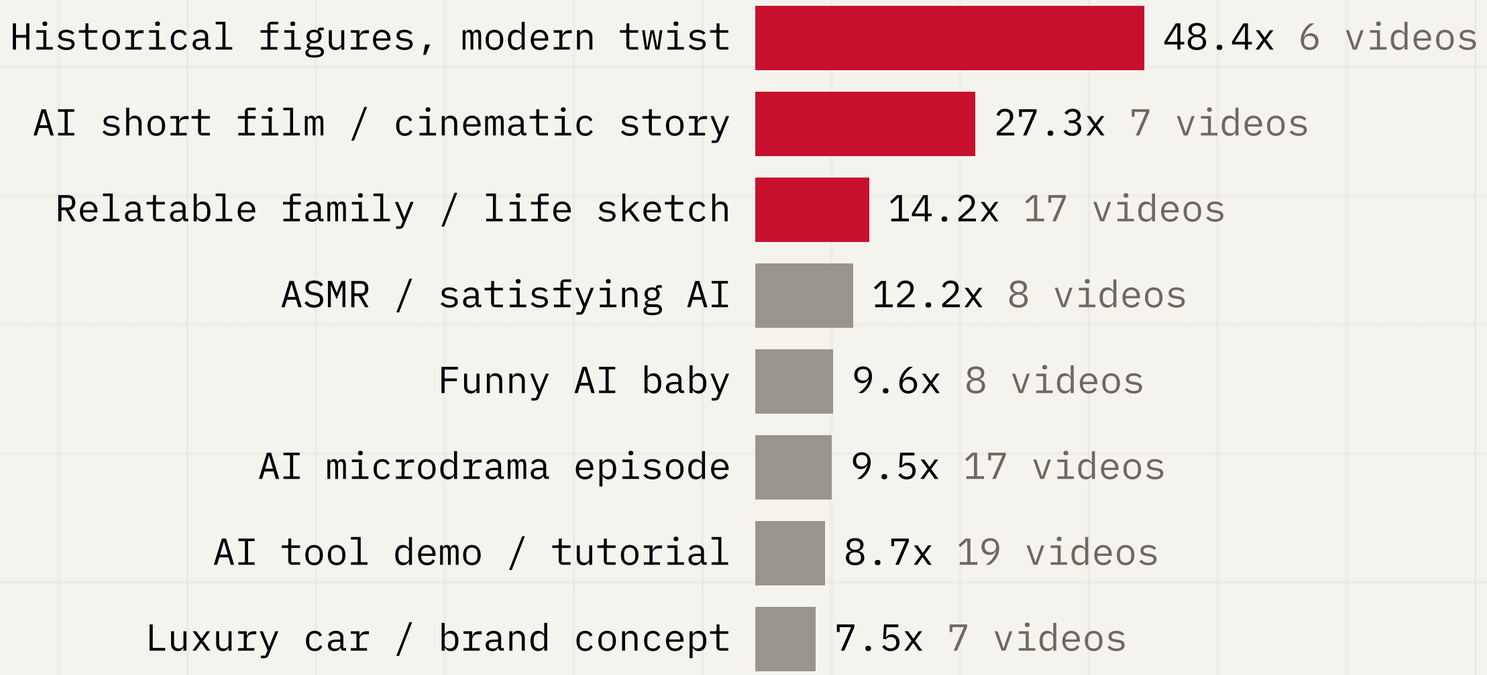

Small accounts can top the chart

13 of the top 50 came from accounts under 50K followers. Two of them, at 6K and 9K followers, placed seven videos between them.

The secret millionaire watch ↗

HOOK, FIRST 2 SECONDS

A man in torn, dirty clothes walks out of a five-star hotel lobby. The doorman steps toward him. You expect him to be thrown out.

STRUCTURE

01 Ragged man walks out of a luxury hotel.

02 Staff in uniform walk him to a matte black G-Wagon.

03 The valet opens the door. He gets in like it is his.

04 Slow orbit of the car. He drives off.

WHY IT WORKED

The first frame sets up a judgement and the payoff flips it. It looks like phone footage, not an AI film, so it reads as a real moment.

HOW TO COPY IT

Open on a status mismatch: wrong clothes, right place. Hold the reveal to the second half. Shoot it like a phone video, not a film. One line of caption, no voice-over.

The dough that rolls itself watch ↗

HOOK, FIRST 2 SECONDS

A ball of dough with a face sits on a floured kitchen counter, looking grumpy, then flattens itself out.

STRUCTURE

01 Dough character stretches flat on the counter.

02 Butter, sugar and cinnamon land on it. A cinnamon shaker has a face too.

03 It rolls itself up and slices into buns.

04 A milk jug pours. The buns bake and rise in the oven.

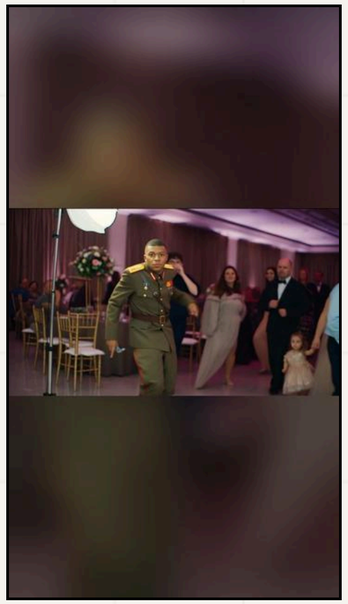

WHY IT WORKED

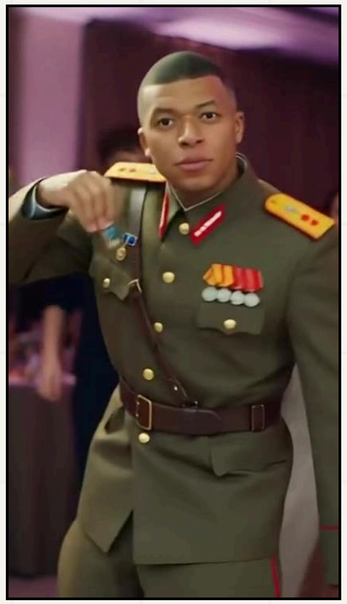

It is a real recipe, so it is watched to the end, and a cute character carries it. Satisfying process plus a face is a loop people replay.

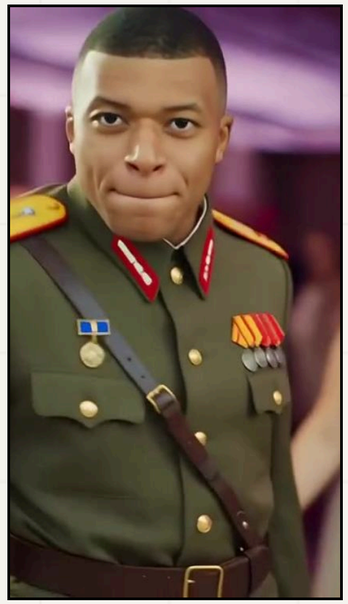

HOW TO COPY IT

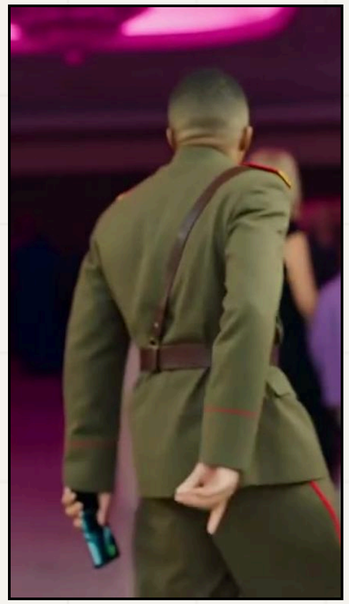

Pick one familiar recipe. Give the main ingredient a face and a mood. Show each step as the food doing it to itself. End on the finished bake, no text.

The dictator at the wedding watch ↗

HOOK, FIRST 2 SECONDS

A footballer look-alike in a 1970s general's uniform dances into a wedding reception. The mismatch lands in one frame.

STRUCTURE

01 General in full uniform dances among wedding guests.

02 Close-up: he lip-syncs to the song.

03 Guests dance around him like it is normal.

04 He spins away into the crowd. Nine seconds total.

WHY IT WORKED

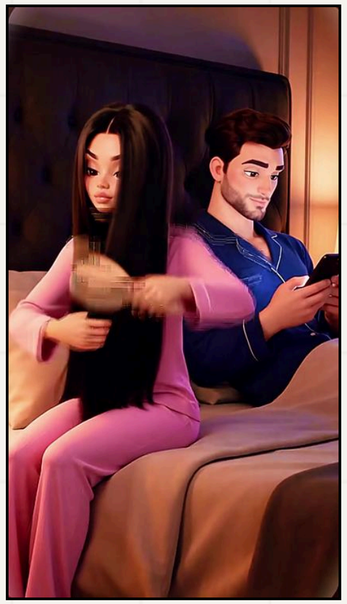

It rides a football joke fans already know (the caption tags Mbappe and Mobutu). Nine seconds and a catchy song make it easy to rewatch.

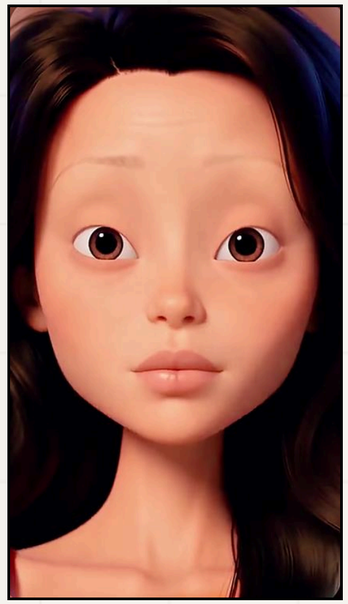

HOW TO COPY IT

Put a famous type in the wrong outfit at a normal party. Use a song people know. Keep it under 10 seconds. Use your own characters, not real faces: real likeness is a takedown risk.

No dialogue. A music bed.

Her bedtime routine, his reaction watch ↗

HOOK, FIRST 2 SECONDS

She sprays face mist in bed. It hits him while he scrolls his phone. He wipes his face, annoyed.

STRUCTURE

01 Her routine escalates: rollers, eye patches, mouth tape, corset.

02 He watches each step, more shocked every time.

03 He starts copying her: face mask, teeth whitening.

04 Last shot: both in red LED masks, side by side.

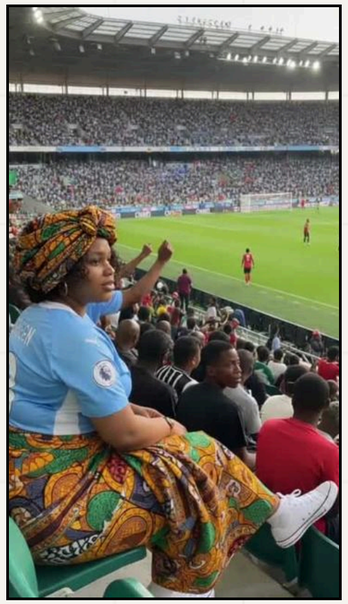

WHY IT WORKED

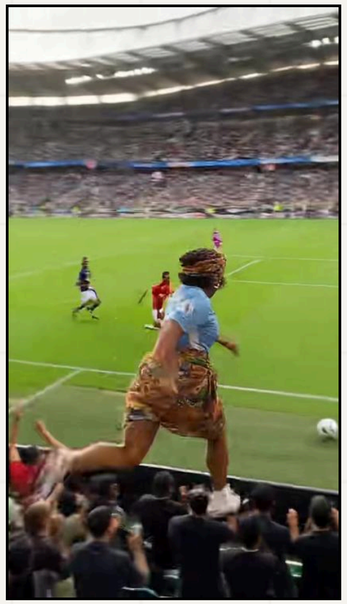

Every couple knows this standoff. Each step is a bigger version of the last, and the ending flips him from victim to fan. It is built to be sent to a partner.

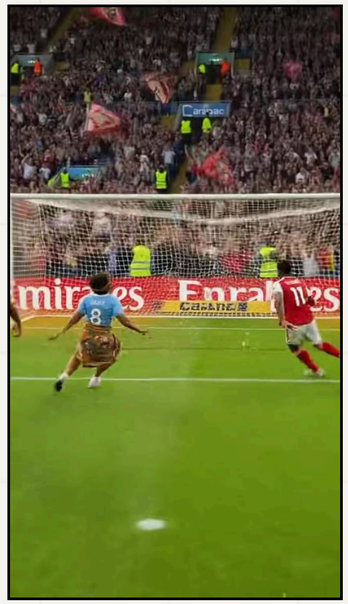

HOW TO COPY IT

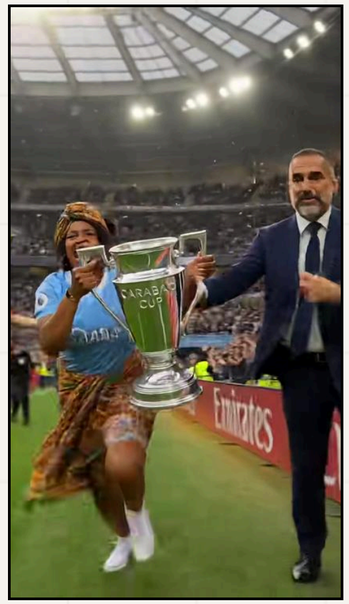

Take one couple habit. Show it in 6 to 10 escalating steps. Give the other person one face per step. End with them joining in. Pixar-style 3D keeps it warm, not mean.

Mum wins the cup watch ↗

HOOK, FIRST 2 SECONDS

A woman in a club shirt and a wax-print wrap leaps out of her seat in the stands and over the barrier onto the pitch.

STRUCTURE

01 She jumps from the stands onto the pitch.

02 She dribbles past the defenders and scores.

03 She takes the trophy from the manager's hands.

04 Stewards chase her as she runs off with it.

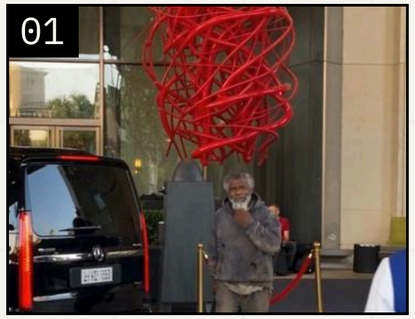

WHY IT WORKED

An ordinary fan does what every fan dreams of. Ten seconds, one clear wish, fast payoff.

HOW TO COPY IT

Make a fan the hero of a big sports moment. Post it the day the real match is in the news. Keep it to one wish and four shots. Avoid real club badges and sponsor logos.

Where the numbers come from

THE MULTIPLE

Views of one video divided by the median views of the same account's recent posts. 100x means the video did a hundred times better than that account usually does. It rewards the idea, not the size of the account.

THE LIST

Videos posted 1 to 31 October 2026, ranked by multiple. Views as of our last scrape.

NEXT EDITION

The November 2026 pack drops 1 Dec. A new pack every 1st, plus a weekly update every Sunday.

SOURCES

Public TikTok and Instagram posts. We find AI video accounts through 14 TikTok hashtags (#aivideo, #aifilm, #aianimation, #klingai, #veo3, #sora2, #seedance and more) and 14 Instagram reel searches, then pull each account's recent posts to get its median. Tool names come from captions and tags.

OUR READ

Trends, breakdowns and "how to copy" are our reading of the videos and the data. Numbers are not. Every video links to the original post.
